REUNION

Chinese (Hongkongers) believe that relationships can be established between people because they have "fate" with each other, and there is a feeling of 'knowing each other' in the bottom of the hearts.
It may be because the two persons have some commonalities in childhood friends, living environment, school classmates, and life preferences, which creates a feeling of familiarity. Secondly, everyone will feel that they have lost a piece of the puzzle deep in their hearts, but another one can always provide timely guidance and reminders, which just makes up for your shortcomings and creates complementary good feelings; however, this feeling of fate will change due to distance. If they are separated for a long time, the relationship will become distant.
Therefore, "fate" is purely a chance coincidence and has no purpose, specific and eternal meaning.

God's love for you is not "fate":
Some friends think that believing in Jesus is a kind of fate. The Bible tells us: "For the Son of Man (Jesus) came to seek and to save the lost." Luke 19:10 NIVUK
The Lord Jesus came to the world two thousand years ago, was nailed to the cross, died for our sins, was buried, and resurrected on the third day, the purpose was to save us the sinners. By God's love to us, the salvation done was not random. God has His careful plan for us to accept His love for us, because "Yet to all who did receive him (Jesus), to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God" John 1:12 NIVUK
As long as we respond with faith, we can establish a beautiful relationship with the Lord. This relationship will not fade away and will last forever.
